Civil Rights Bill Passed
by 73-27 Vote

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—After 83 days of debate, the longest in its history, the Senate passed the civil rights bill Friday night by an overwhelming 73-27 vote.

With that historic hurdle cleared the bill goes to the House on Monday where it is expected to receive prompt approval.

House leaders predicted that after a brief struggle the measure—to arm the federal government with the greatest power since Reconstruction to attack racial discrimination—will be on President Johnson's desk ready to be signed into law by July 4.

In San Francisco, Johnson applauded the action, declaring:

"Senate passage of the rights bill is a major step toward equal opportunities for all Americans. I congratulate senators of both parties who worked to make passage possible.

"I look forward to the day, which will not be long forthcoming, when the bill becomes law. That will be a milestone in America's progress toward full justice for all her citizens."

Civil rights leaders also hailed passage of the measure as "an act of good will and reconciliation" and "the greatest single triumph for human rights in our country since the Emancipation Proclamation."

From the South, however, came predictions of disaster from some Dixie governors. Alabama's George C. Wallace predicted the American people "will remove from office those responsible."

Since Feb. 10, when the House passed its version of the rights bill, the focus of attention has been on the Senate where the bill faced its deepest peril from the Southerners' razor-sharp parliamentary weapons of delay and filibuster.

Finally the filibuster was broken when the Senate voted June 10, for the first time, to invoke cloture on a civil rights debate. That set the stage for Friday's vote.

Spectators jammed the visitors gallery and overflowed into a line that trailed under the pillars and down the broad Senate steps.

All 100 senators were on hand, including Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., recuperating from two brain operations, who was rolled up the aisle in a wheelchair.

The roll call moved swiftly and at 7:50 p.m. it was over. The bill had passed. The gallery broke into applause.

Voting for it were 46 Democrats and 27 Republicans. Against it were 21 Democrats—including 20 Southerners—and six Republicans, including Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the front-running candidate for his party's presidential nomination.

Stalemate in Florida Race Strife

By DON MCKEE

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—A racial stalemate deepened today when the St. John County grand jury refused to accept a proposal by integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. that the jury set up a negotiating group immediately.

Jury foreman R. Aubrey Davis issued a statement after King proposed that the jury convene its special session and appoint a biracial committee.

"The grand jury will not be intimidated," Davis said. "We will not negotiate. We will not alter our presentment."

The jury Thursday recommended a 30-day cooling off period to be followed by creation of a biracial group by the jury. King rejected this.

King told an earlier news conference that demonstrations would be suspended for one week if the grand jury would convene in a few days and appoint a biracial committee.

With neither side giving ground, Negroes prepared for new demonstrations later today, and whites were reported planning a march tonight.

Most of Us Take Things for Granted Today, Things That Would Amaze Forefathers

By Mary Anita Laseter
Star Feature Writer

Most of us who live today in this great land of ours take so many things for granted. Things that would astonish many of our contemporary human beings and certainly would amaze our forefathers. Yet, we have grown so accustomed to them, they have become in the category of the commonplace.

In the material realm we have comforts and conveniences never known before by human beings. For instance, when Summer moved in, the age-old battle with the thermometer seldom had to be waged with a palmetto fan. Though everyone doesn't have the same cooling method at hand, it's safe to say we all have some improvement over that early fan. The improved methods are everywhere (for which I'm extremely grateful), and we not only expect them, but demand them at every turn. It's not that the weather is any hotter than 100 years ago, but our resistance to it is less.

The majority of people in the United States don't give a second thought to whether enough food will be supplied them. Our problem is that of surplus and overweight rather than insufficient harvest and starvation. This we take for granted along with complaints about rising prices and comparisons of already-prepared food.

But material things aren't all we receive and absorb as a matter of course. Love in its many good forms is, too often, taken for granted in a peaceful society. The headlines of this and other papers may make us question just how peaceful our society really is, but the fact that we are shocked and angry with reports of violence illustrates our basic good instincts. Of course, when we show resistance to those same evils through action, as well as word, the illustration is more profound. By and large, though, good will toward men is not reserved by most of us for the Christmas season alone, and we are able to accept love-of family, friends, God, and country—as nothing unusual.

Many of the rights and privileges that we enjoy are considered as natural to us as sun melting ice cream. Since the colonists landed at Plymouth, our freedoms of speech, press, religion, and peaceful assembly have been sought, cherished, and defended. Our rights of personal property and private enterprise are at the moment being threatened by a misnomer called the Civil Rights Bill. And for that reason we are taking those rights less and less for granted. Who knows how much longer we Americans, regardless of race, creed, or color, will have them!

Does one have to be denied something once enjoyed to really appreciate it? Is it necessary to suffer drouth before appreciating rain, or to know sorrow before enjoying a smile? Not necessarily. No message on this theme should fail to mention our right to vote as something too many overlook, do not exercise, or simply "take for granted."

We don't want that withheld in order to make it appealing, but that's one reason so many new citizens of our country are sometimes more anxious to exercise their franchise to vote. It had not been easily obtained by them, whereas it is free for the asking in most circumstances here. The Greeks view the situation a little differently from us. There, a fine and a jail sentence may be imposed if those eligible do NOT vote. That is one way of doing it, but it's not our way.

Merely voting to be voting is not the answer either. After all, people vote. The difference here is that we have freedom to vote, and freedom of choice. A person may have a fondness for, say, the color blue. It might always be your preference among other colors, but you don't want to be told that is the one you must have. You want to be left to the choice.

Look around you, and you will probably discover many other things we fail to praise when we have, but never cease to complain about being without. These things range from health to a penny for the parking meter.

Some 24 members of Boy Scout Troop 91 leave for Camp Pioneer at 11 a.m. Sunday for a full week of camping. The troop is sponsored by the Lions Club with Jamie Boyett and Olen Overturn as Scoutmasters. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Murphy will furnish a bus to transport the group to camp.

Those leaving include Dick Overturn, Billy Stroppe, Benton Fincher, Ronnie Volentine, Steve Martin, David Rowe, Jerry Puryear, John Greene, Robert Gladney;

Mickey Holt, Dan Stuart, Jerry Keith, Crit Stuart II, Don Williams, Mike May, Larry Byers, Randy Still, David Still, Butch Reeves, Gregg Harrison, Steve Murphy, Steve Taylor, Bubba Lewis and Douglas Byrd.

District Transfer by County Legal

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A 1963 legislative act transferring Montgomery County from the 9th Judicial District to the 18th Judicial District has been ruled constitutional by Circuit Judge Paul Wolfe of Fort Smith.

Wolfe said Thursday night that he ruled the law constitutional on the grounds that such a transfer was not prohibited by the state constitution.

Under those circumstances, Wolfe said, the legislature may take any action not specifically prohibited by the constitution.

A taxpayers suit filed in Montgomery County contested the constitutionality of the act on the grounds that the Arkansas Constitution reads that judicial districts shall be composed of "counties," not "a county."

The transfer left Garland County alone in the 9th Judicial District.

Wolfe sat on the case after 18th District Circuit Judge Bobby Steele disqualified himself because the ruling affected the size of his district.

Narcotics Ring Is Uncovered

GENOA, Italy (AP)—Italian police said today they had uncovered an international narcotics ring that traded dope for pistols. Italian authorities said I.S., French and Turkish police cooperated in the crackdown.

Over the past four years, police said, the gang had a "trade" worth millions of dollars. Authorities said they had arrested six Italians and were seeking 20 other persons, including a Frenchman.

Police said the gang obtained opium in the Middle East, had it smuggled into Italy at Adriatic ports, then hauled it into France, via Genoa, for refining. Those bringing the dope into Italy from the Middle East received crates of pistols in exchange, police said.

Pravda Calls Americans Brainwashed

MOSCOW (AP)—The Communist party paper Pravda's picture of America today: A nation of brainwashed millions living in a poisoned atmosphere and conditioned from childhood against thinking for themselves.

"Their brains have been put on the assembly line," wrote commentator Yuri Zhukov. "The brainwashing is done not only by the radio, but by the church, by films and the publishers of cheap books and particularly by television."

"A person is conditioned against thinking. For every contingency there is ready for him a portion of standard, sterilized spiritual food in gaudy wrapping."

The brainwashing begins at school age, said Zhukov, and right up to their college and military service days Americans are "trained and inured against communism."

"No wonder," he added, "that many Americans who all through their life are subjected to this terrible brainwashing are misled people incapable of finding their bearings in the most ordinary things."

Zhukov, who mentioned that he visited the United States in the fall of 1962, gave no clue as to his reason for writing his criticisms now.

Even children's painting books have an anti-Communist slant, the Pravda man complained. He recalled in 1962 buying a coloring book that had "malicious cartoons" of Communist statesmen.

"What is this?" Zhukov asked. "A bad joke or something harmful? No, this is the first link on the conveyor belt on which the average American outlook is formed."

After the coloring in tinge, he said, came the anti-Communist course in school, followed by similar brainwashing in college and military establishments.

"American education in the anti-Communist spirit is very harmful to the nation itself. The amination of President Kennedy howed this."

"It is true that for months before his tragic death President Kennedy urged his countrymen to rethink their attitude toward the cold war. But the brainwashings of the ordinary American on the assembly line of anticommunism goes on."

Alcoa Strike May Not Come Off

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A threatened nationwide strike of the Aluminum Co. of America may have been avoided Thursday night following a six-hour meeting between Alcoa and Aluminum Workers International Representatives.

A tentative agreement was reached between Alcoa and the union and Federal Mediator William Rose said union officials agreed to present the proposal to the union members.

Terms of the agreement were not valid but the union is expected to vote on the proposals at a meeting Saturday night at Massena, N.Y.

Aluminum workers at Alcoa's Massena plant already are on strike and union members in nine other plants in seven states, including Arkansas, voted to join the Massena local on June 9. This was halted by court action.

Truce Offer in Florida Is Rejected

By PAU LWILLS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Negro integration leaders, rejecting an offer of a truce on the heels of renewed racial violence, said they would offer their own truce terms today.

However, the white population, angered by an attempt of Negroes to integrate a plush white motel swimming pool, indicated they might not be willing to listen.

"We will make a counterproposal," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., after rejecting the special session grand jury presentment Thursday calling for a 30-day truce.

State Sen. Verle Pope, a spokesman for the businessmen's group, said the demonstrations Wednesday night and Thursday indicate a lack of good faith among the integrationists.

"The people of St. Augustine will never yield to stipulations set forth by outside groups," he said.

Fifty-seven more demonstrators, including 16 rabbis and a Jewish layman, went to jail Thursday—pushing the total arrests for the week to about 250.

Most remained in jail. A melee erupted Thursday after five Negroes and two white integrationists jumped in a swimming pool at Monson Motor Lodge—a prime target of demonstrators.

Manager James Brock pushed and pulled some of the rabbis. An off-duty policeman yanked off his shoes, leaped into the pool and began grappling with one white man.

Brock dumped containers of muriatic acid, a cleansing fluid for pools, into the water. It was not strong enough to cause burns when diluted by the water.

The two white swimmers, registered guests at the hotel, were the Rev. Al Lingo, a recent graduate of a seminary, and Peter Shiras, headmaster of an Episcopal school in Washington.

The bathers pulled from the pool and arrested by police were charged with breach of the peace, trespassing and resisting arrest with violence. Bond was set at $400 each.

A nightly march, composed of about 195 persons, stopped in front of Monson's where Hosea Williams of Savannah, Ga., began a speech.

Sheriff L. O. Davis, interrupted saying: "You wanted to march—now march!"

When Williams failed to comply, Davis arrested the Negro who was charged with failing to obey an officer's command.

Crime Rate Up in Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported Thursday that the number of crimes in Little Rock rose steeply in the first three months of 1964 compared to the same period last year.

Robberies totaled 42 in January and February and March this year, compared to 19 in the first three months of 1963, the FBI said. Burglaries jumped from 228 to 379, larcenies rose from 177 to 294 and auto thefts increased from 65 to 120.

The FBI said there was one murder in Little Rock in the first three months of 1964, and two in the same period last year. Three forcible rapes were reported in the 1964 period, compared to two in 1963.

Sen. Kennedy Injured in Plane Crash

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., youngest member of a tragedy-dogged family, was hurt Friday night in a plane crash that killed the pilot and injured three other persons, including Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his wife.

The private, twin-engine plane plunged into an apple orchard in the western Massachusetts town of Southampton as it neared West Springfield and the Massachusetts Democratic State Convention.

Kennedy, 32, was coming here to be endorsed by acclamation for a full, six-year term in the Senate seat once held by his brother, the late President John F. Kennedy. Bayh, 36, had been scheduled to deliver the convention's keynote address.

They had left Washington after voting "yes" as the Senate enacted the civil rights bill.

The dead pilot was Edwin T. Zimny, 48, of Lawrence, Mass.

Several hours after the accident, Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton said Kennedy and Bayh were in fair condition with Kennedy semi-conscious.

Kennedy was treated for back and chest injuries. Bayh suffered a hip injury. Mrs. Bayh was reported suffering from shock.

Edward Moss, 41, an aide to Sen. Kennedy, was reported in critical condition.

The senator's mother, Rose Kennedy, wife of ailing former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, was reportedly en route to the hospital. Mrs. Steven Smith, a sister, and the senator's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, flew from Hyannis Port to Boston where they boarded a car for the drive to Northampton.

Shortly before 3 a.m., Eunice Kennedy Shriver, another sister, and her husband, Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver, arrived at the hospital.

Sen. Kennedy's wife Joan had hurried to the hospital immediately after the accident was reported—at 11:20 p.m. She was escorted by Gov. Endicott Peabody who rushed her out of the convention hall during the roll call which brought him the convention's endorsement for re-nomination.

Within minutes after the roll call the shocked convention recessed. Cheers rang out when the chairman, John E. Powers of South Boston, announced that Kennedy had survived the crash.

Loaded Gun Just Before the Takeoff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Gonzalez, whose discharged revolver was found in the wreckage after he and 43 others died in a plane crash May 7, had loaded the weapon at Reno moments before the plane left, the FBI is reported to have determined.

The Pacific Air Lines two-engine plane, flying from Reno to San Francisco, power-dived into a hill shortly after the copilot radioed "Skipper's shot."

Soon after the discharged revolver was found, the FBI determined that Gonzalez, 27, a San Francisco department store worker, was its owner. Agents also learned that he carried a large insurance policy for the trip.

An FBI spokesman confirmed its report of the investigation has been completed but had no comment on this account in today's San Francisco Examiner.

Gonzalez loaded the gun in the men's room at Reno airport. A cleaning kit which came with the revolver was found there.

Two witnesses had seen Gonzalez with the gun in the right hand breast pocket of his coat while he gambled in Reno.

Two plane passengers who got off during a stopover at Stockton, Calif., told the FBI that Gonzalez occupied the front seat of the plane, the one nearest the pilot's compartment.

Committee Receptive in JFK Probe

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The findings are over and the findings due within a fortnight, but the Warren commission kept its door ajar today for any belated disclosures on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

If the presidential body headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren meets its timetable, the public will know by June 30 all that the investigative resources of the government could uncover on the Dallas tragedy of last Nov. 22.

President Johnson will receive a report totaling more than 500 pages, supported by transcripts of testimony which are said to rival in bulk the findings of the Pearl Harbor Commission after World War II.

There may be some surprises, commission sources have hinted. But there is no indication that the seven-month investigation had turned up any disclosures casting serious doubt on the FBI's original basic conclusions.

The FBI's report remains secret still, but it is known to indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald, the embittered ex-Marine marksman, conceived the slaying and executed it alone. Two days after the assassination, Oswald was shot to death in the Dallas jail by Jack Ruby, a Dallas night club operator.

It was learned, however, that the commission stands ready to receive any last-minute information offered and may itself recall witnesses if members find any points which need clarifying during the writing of the report.

In addition, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has predicted that investigations will continue "for years to come," even though the life of the Warren commission expires with the filing of its report.

The last of more than 400 witnesses was James J. Rowley, Chief of the U.S. Secret Service. He answered questions for 3½ hours Thursday. On leaving he revealed only that the atmosphere inside was "very pleasant."

Rowley has made no public statement whatsoever on the shooting which ended the life of the young President who personally picked him for his job.

It was believed that the commission, having already quizzed dozens of Rowley's agents and ballistics experts, asked the chief questions which went considerably beyond the adequacy of the precautions taken in Dallas and the behavior of the agents before, during and after the shooting.

Warren has indicated it is his view that the commission's assignment includes discretionary power to propose any changes or improvements it considers needed in the procedures for protecting the President and his family.

Gas Workers Vote to Strike

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Employees of the Fort Smith Gas Corp. and Stephens Production Co. voted Thursday night to strike on June 29 if a contract agreement is not reached by that date.

The employees, members of Local 944 of the International Association of Machinists (AFL-CIO), and the firm have been negotiating for almost two months.

Harvey Christianson, international representative of the union, said the strike would affect 111 employees and service in Fort Smith, Booneville, Pocatonton, Corning, Waldron, Van Buren, Alma, Lavaca, Greenwood, Barling and Fort Chaffee in Arkansas and Poteau and Sallisaw in Oklahoma.

Barry Says Scranton Is With Liberals

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Barry Goldwater thinks Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton has cast his lot with Republican liberals—and questions whether the Republican National Convention would award Scranton the vice-presidential spot on a ticket topped by Goldwater.

Goldwater's view on the governor's position was learned today as Scranton pressed what he calls a moderate crusade to capture the presidential nomination for himself.

Despite a towering lead in delegate strength, Goldwater does not rule out the governor as a running mate despite the harsh terms the Pennsylvania has chosen for his campaign theme. He has called Goldwater's conservative views a "weird parody."

Goldwater is said to point to John F. Kennedy's selection of Lyndon B. Johnson as his running mate in 1960 despite the harsh things Johnson had said about Kennedy during that battle for the nomination.

Scranton is known to be one of several men the senator is considering as a running mate should he win the presidential nomination in San Francisco month.

But Goldwater is said to feel that Scranton is more liberal than moderate, and to wonder whether the temper of the GOP convention will be such that Scranton would be rated an acceptable running mate.

Goldwater, it was learned, feels that the campaign spotlight cast on Scranton—and his record as a congressman—by his bid for the nomination has shown him to be more closely allied with the party's liberals than with its moderates.

So far, soundings by the Goldwater camp indicate Scranton has not changed the delegate picture. Rather, Goldwater's aides feel the delegates Scranton has gained are those Goldwater couldn't count on in the first place.

Goldwater is said to be convinced that he will inherit some of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's delegates, despite the New Yorker's swing behind Scranton.

An Associated Press survey now giving Goldwater 694 delegate votes—more than the 635 needed for nomination if he can hold them. But Goldwater is said to feel he needs more to be sure of the nomination—an insurance pad of about 100 delegate votes.

Goldwater, it is said, recognizes as a political fact of life that Scranton will succeed in moving some delegates out of his column.

Goldwater does not expect any fight over the platform to be drafted for the party at San Francisco. The senator will appear before the platform committee July 10.

He plans to make a general statement, and urge the committee to draft a brief statement of GOP principles to guide candidates in the campaign.

The senator is pictured as being living there will be no platform conflict over the civil rights bill. He figures it will be signed into law by convention time, expects nothing more than a Republican promise to uphold the law, and will subscribe to it.

Goldwater was one of six Republicans to vote against the bill Friday night. Twenty-seven Republicans were in favor of the legislation as the Senate passed it, 73 to 27.

Thinks Court Decision Was Justice

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has opened the doors to a double revolution in American life—and given it a new sense of justice—by stepping into a vacuum in race and politics.

The vacuum was created by the failure of the democratic process to wipe out two injustices which the ruling forces—white majorities and politicians—sought to ignore.

The court has angered many with its willingness to act where all held back. But the alternative was to let the democratic process decay, which would have been a confession of democratic failure and national impotence.

The first revolution began just over 10 years ago when the court on May 17, 1954, declared the principle of racial segregation unconstitutional by outlawing segregation in public schools.

The second revolution began with three decisions — one in 1962, two this year — that elections to state legislatures and the House in Congress must be made more democratic by trying to give all voters an equal voice.

The court has been accused of usurping power. If Congress thought so, it would have tried to curb the court. It did not. Instead, it accepted as law what the court did and has sought to conform to it.

Thus to the rest of the world, not entangled in American politics or its racial prejudices, the court stands as an expression of the national democratic conscience at the very moment this country seeks to be a democratic symbol.

While the Civil War freed the Negro, it never in practice made him equal to the white man. The Supreme Court blessed the inequality by making it an official part of American life with its separate-but-equal decision of 1896.

This said Negroes could be segregated so long as the treatment they got was equal to that given white people. The treatment became increasingly unequal, particularly in the South but in the North, too.

The nation had more than half a century then in which, through its democratic processes, to remove the injustice but it sat back unwilling to move even though the rest of the world, with the colonial peoples freed, was rushing through one of the most revolutionary moments in all history.

It was the court, not Congress, which in 1954 finally said an end to unequal treatment of citizens. If the court had not acted, there was no indication Congress would have acted for another half century.

For the first 60 years of this century American politicians largely ignored that other priceless American possession: full enjoyment by all citizens of the democratic process, meaning equal representation.

Why? Because these politicians would not yield power. In those 60 years there had been vast shifts in populations from cities to suburban areas.

For example: A state's rural legislative district, which years ago might have contained far more people, now had 20,000. A city district, which years ago might have had far fewer people, now had 100,000.

But each of those two districts under arrangements set up back in 1900, was entitled to only one state representative in the legislature. Thus each farm vote was now equal to five city votes.

Although state constitutions in many cases had provided for such conditions, by requiring reapportionment every 10 years or so to provide more or less equal voter representation, state politicians ignored their constitutions, did nothing.

Nor did Congress, whose members come from the states, do anything. Citizens protested but got no action. This went on for years. Finally, between 1962 and last Monday the court stepped in.

It ordered states to redistrict according to population to give their citizens a more equal say in electing state senators and representatives and members of the House in Congress.

Without this action by the court, the voting inequality could have continued another half century.

While the Bull Shoals Dam was being built, the government moved the entire town of Lead Hill to higher ground, and it is now one of the leading boat dock sites on the lake.

Charged With Poisoning Hubby

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — gmvr. Ruth Lockard, 37, of Hot Springs was charged Thursday under a city law with administering poison to her invalid husband, Elvon L. Lockard, 48.

Police Chief John Erney said police were called Wednesday night and Mrs. Lockard told them she had put 1½ teaspoons of rat poison in her husband's coffee.

Lockard was hospitalized and his physician reported he was in satisfactory condition. Lockard is confined to a wheel chair.

Mrs. Lockard was held in city jail pending setting of bond.

Poor Nations Find Numbers Mean Much

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

GENEVA (AP) — The poor nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America have discovered that their sheer weight of numbers can count heavily in the councils of the world.

The discovery had its first big impact at a three-month U.N. trade conference which ended here this week without concrete achievements.

It raises a challenge to the developed countries of the West and could hamper, if not paralyze, the United Nations.

It is a logical consequence of the end of the colonial era, a consequence that was not foreseen when 50 victor nations of World War II signed the United Nations charter in 1945. The membership has more than doubled.

The colonial peoples generally looked to independence as the beginning of prosperity and happiness. But independence has brought only greater poverty to many. Disappointment with the fruits of national liberation often has turned into resentment against the former colonial rulers. And while the poor countries become steadily poorer, the rich countries are becoming richer.

In all Western industrial nations, responsible statesmen agree that this gap cannot be allowed to widen further without breeding revolution, anarchy and war.

The Western nations are pouring money, resources and technical skill into the poor countries but these contend the help is inadequate.

The Soviet Union and its friends are helping, too. Some of the Communist aid is spectacular, such as the Aswan Dam in Egypt. But altogether it amounts to a drop in a bucket compared with the aid given by the West. Soviet influence in most poor countries remains small and is fought by Red China and the West alike.

To their disappointment, the Soviets have found that many Africans and Asians regard them not as special friends or champions of liberation, but as white men.

Throughout Asia and Africa, the Chinese Communists are calling on the nonwhite races to stick together to end the white man's economic domination.

This was one reason, apparently, why the Soviets at the Geneva conference failed to press their usual demand for the admission of Red China.

The conference originally was suggested by the Soviet Union against vigorous Western objections. When it began the Soviets encouraged the formation of a group of 75 underdeveloped nations and promised unconditional support. But in the end, the conference undoubtedly turned into a disillusionment for the Soviet Union.

All Soviet bloc nations—even Cuba—were refused admission to the underdeveloped group which, on occasions, took a decidedly anti-Communist line.

The emergence of the group itself as a cohesive, basically anti-Western political force nevertheless was the most significant development of the conference. Burma, Indonesia, Ghana, Guinea and Chile were its most outspoken leaders.

Western officials fear they will seek to use their newly found power from now on to steamroller their views — with Soviet support — through the United Nations and other international bodies.

As we finished dinner I asked Macklin for a photo for Rako the most recent one, which would be one taken at the hearing.

"I'll send a picture over to your hotel this afternoon. I'm not going directly back to the paper, but you should have it by four. Will that be all right?"

"Fine."

"What else?"

"I don't think I need them but if you want to run a few blind items in your column go ahead. Check up on the two laundry men who were killed and do something on them—anything you can do without being sued. I'll make Clark more nervous."

He smiled. "That I can do — with pleasure."

"And there's only one more thing. If I find Rako I'll phone you. It'll be your story. Write it that way. Keep my name out of it. As far as you're concerned, you never heard of me."

"Now I've heard everything — after 30 years in this business. It's simple," I said. "Publicity wouldn't get me any more money than I can get now on a case. And it would make me better known to people I might have to get on my next case. I don't want any rewards except the ones that are signed by the treasurer of the insurance company."

"It makes sense," he said. "I'm glad it's a practical reason. After 20 years in Washington I don't believe there are any other reasons."

We ordered lunch and afterwards he promised to have a photograph of Rako sent to my hotel.

"I'll start running some items and we'll see if we can't make Clark sweat a little while you're searching," he added.

"I'll keep in touch."

"Good enough," he beckoned the waiter, who brought the check over. He signed it and stood up. "Good Luck," he said soberly.

He turned and left. I finished my coffee then walked outside. I stepped up to the taxi. I was still looking when the sedan pulled up abreast of me. Jerry Dell was sitting on the near side and

Bids on Tech Cafeteria

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — New bids will be taken here next Tuesday on construction of a cafeteria at Arkansas Tech College.

Last spring bids were taken, but were rejected as too high. The low bid then was $893,850. The one-story brick and concrete building would accommodate 1,100 students.

U.S. Population Growing Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau estimated today that the population of the United States will reach 192 million at 7:30 a.m. next Monday.

the other fellow was driving. Dell was holding a gun in his lap, but it was pointed at me. "You want a ride, baby?" he asked.

"Not with you, baby." "Well, you're getting one. We don't like where you went this morning and we're all going to sit down and have a nice little talk about it."

I glanced around. There were very few people on the street. There was a cop coming toward us, but he was a block away and taking his time.

The driver had his door open and was halfway out. Dell was starting to edge over toward the wheel.

"You get in the front seat with me, baby."

I shifted my cigarette from my left hand to my right hand on the open window. Jerry Dell's face was no more than a foot away. I flicked the cigarette directly into it. At the same time I leaped toward the rear of the car.

I heard a curse from Dell, then the low, tense voice of Lefty. "There's a cop coming." He was sliding back under the wheel. The motor gunned and the car took off.

"Hney there," a voice shouted from behind me. I looked around. It was the cop, who was now advancing at a lumbering run. I waited for him.

"What's going on here?" he demanded as he came up. "You know as much as I do officer. Two men wanted me to get into the car with them."

"Yeah? Did you get the license number?"

"No. I hearded you yell and turned around before I had a chance. Didn't you get it?"

He looked at me with disgust. "All right. Get going." I started to obey but his voice stopped me. "Just a minute." I turned to face him. His hand had dropped down to his holster. "Is that a gun you're carrying?"

"Sure," I said.

"Turn around," he said tightly, "and put your hands on top of your head."

I obeyed. "In my right-hand coat pocket you'll find a permit for the gun."

His hand fumbled in my pocket, then came out. There was a momeunt of silence. "A private dick," he said disgustedly. "All right. Put your hands down and turn around." When I turned, he handed my permit back to me. "Now, what was going on here?"

"I told you all I know. I had lunch with a friend of mine and was going back to my hotel when that car pulled up where I was waiting for a taxi. I never saw them before."

He scratched his head. "I ought to run you in anyway," he said. "Okay. On your way."

"DEAR ABBY"

OPPOSITE VIEWS!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Readers: We are celebrating FATHER'S DAY, and it is a most appropriate time to share with you these letters which I received from readers. The first was sent to me from a proud father in Norwalk, Ohio. It was the first letter I received from his G.I. son — one of seven to serve our country, with two more to go." He wrote:

Verdun, France
"Hi, Dad:
"I received your letter the other day, but have been too tired to answer until now. I still am, but here goes:
"Dad, you have no idea what it means to get a letter from you. I know you think of me, but is is good to see it in writing. I want you to know that I think of you as well as Mom and my wife, all the time. I pray for you all every night. The only thing that keeps me going is knowing we will all be together again."

"I guess the reason your letters mean so much to me is because they are so few and far between. I just can't explain the feeling I get when I read a letter from you, Dad. It just tears me apart.
"I guess I am just sentimental. Or maybe it's because we never said much to each other before. I feel that your letters bring us closer together. Anyway, I want you to know that I think you are O.K. and I am proud that you are my Dad. When anybody would ask me, 'Are you Ed Brutsche's boy?' I'd say, 'Yea, I sure am.'"

This is my first letter to you and you along Dad. I am even putting it in a separate envelope because it is worth eight cents to let my father know that I love him and miss him very much.

Businessman Dies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — James Claude Alexander, a Fort Smith banker, farmer and businessman, died Thursday at the age of 75. He was a former director of Merchant's National Bank here, and had banking interests in Alma and Mulberry.

Could the pages of history be turned back to the time Christ was preaching the Sermon on the Mount, 2000 years ago, a race of Indians called the Bluff Dwellers would be seen living along the bluffs and in the caves in the Ozark Mountains.

"And that's it. Your Sentimental Son, Pink"

And another letter:

Dear Abby: Please do me a favor and print the enclosed portion of a letter I received from my son, wonderful boy who has been neglected by her father for all of his 19 years. My son is away at college. His father reads your column. Maybe he will see it and recognize himself as I could not bring myself to show him his son's letter.

A Broken-Hearted Mother
"... I hope to God I never turn out to be the kind of man my father is. If I do, I want someone to shoot me. Do you realize that I have actually lived in the same house with a man for 19 years and he never once sat down and talked to me, or took me anywhere, or showed any interest in me, except for football my last year in high school and that was very short-lived? You should see the letters some of these boys get from their fathers. You should hear them talk about the places they've gone, and the things they've done with their fathers. How am I supposed to know how to treat a son if I ever get married? I've never been shown any love by my father. I don't even know how a father is supposed to act. Do you realize that I have missed half the fun of growing up because my father never looked at me if he had been dead for the past 15 years, it wouldn't have made any difference. There are some things a mother can't give her children. Especially if they are boys. I've missed all that and I'll never forgive my father for it. Maybe you should have pushed him a little harder, Mom. I don't know. I only know that it's too late for me, but it's not too late for my brother. See if you can't talk to him, Mom. I don't want Johnny to grow up wondering what it's like to have a father's love. That's half a boy's education. Don't let Johnny miss it Mom. Please."

My "Pop"

... a grand guy in any language. A very special fellow at our house. Without him around night brings fright. But for him we couldn't eat as well, nor as much. He may be gruff at times; he may be firm when he disciplines. And we may answer "yessir" in agreement when he commands, but he is the very foundation of everything at our house.

It takes him to silence the doggie ... to persuade Jr. ... to laud sister's successes and to heap high praise on all the things mother does ... that's "My Pop". They possess rare qualities, these fathers. A good one is a source of joy to every child. Then on this Father's Day, let him have it right in the heart. Aim all the good things at him. Give him the treatment he so justly deserves and make him wish for another Father's Day very soon. Play with him but also pray with him. Be a worshiper with him at your church this week.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted ... to combat Communism on all fronts ... to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD ...
